

A photo of Lenine during his recent illness published in a special supplement of the Bolshevik paper, Pravda, under the heading "Comrade Lenine Resting."

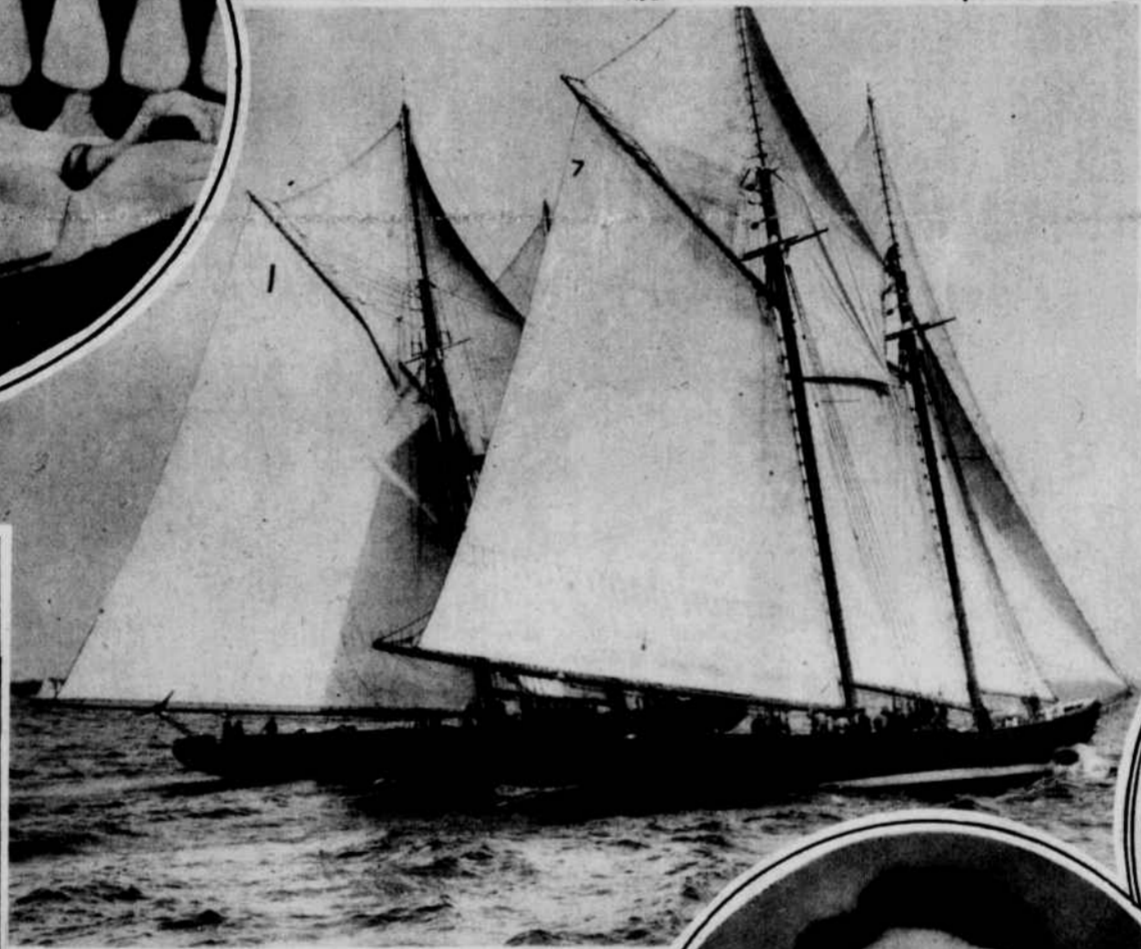

The last of the passengers of the burning steamship City of Honolulu being taken off in lifeboats by the crew of the United States transport Thomas. On the right is the City of Honolulu drifting helplessly, with flames consuming practically the entire vessel.

LLOYD GEORGE'S LAST STAND IN HIS BATTLE TO KEEP THE PREMIERSHIP

In a great speech before the Manchester Reform Club on October 14 Mr. Lloyd George delivered his final answer as Premier to his political opponents, who last week accomplished his downfall. He is shown here speaking at the club. On the left he was caught delivering a defiant passage while addressing the throng outside the building. On the right he is in a more happy mood, responding to the cheers of his followers.

New York Herald Foreign Photo.

America's entry, the Henry Ford, in the foreground, crossing the starting line in the second race with the Bluenose, Canadian defender, for the international fishing vessels' trophy.

Levick.

Alvin M. Owsley of Texas, new national commander of the American Legion, smiling his greeting to the convention in New Orleans after his election.

Pacific & Atlantic.

A Georgia Tech player is stood on his head by a Navy tackler during the second period of the game in which Annapolis beat the Golden Tornado, 13 to 0.

Pacific and Atlantic.

Both Republican and Democratic candidates for the Governorship of New York are proud of their families. In the lower photo Gov. Miller is seen at play with his daughters, Constance, Louise and Marion, and their police dog Scout, while above Mrs. Al Smith, wife of the former Governor, is shown with her children, Arthur, Catherine and Walter.

Pacific & Atlantic.